What is this product?

Type

Erste Asset Management GmbH, Fond budúcnosti, o.p.f. (hereinafter „fund“ or „product“) is a standard open-ended mutual fund.

Term

The Fund was established for an indefinite period of time.

The management company may terminate the Fund or merge it with another Fund in accordance with applicable law. The circumstances under which a decision may be taken to terminate the Fund and the rights of unit-holders upon termination of the Fund are set out in Article I of the Fund's sales prospectus.

Objectives

The fund aims to achieve a return on equity investments, subject to the risk profile of the fund and the recommended investment horizon in this document. The fund invests funds in shares of companies based on the analysis of their fundamental parameters and the setting of their business models to achieve additional returns in the fund resulting from the selection of individual stock titles with above-standard yield potential within individual sectors of the economy. The strategic share of shares in the fund is 100%.

The management company focuses on stocks that it assumes are or will become part of megatrends in the future. Megatrend is defined by the Management Company as a significant and long-term change that will fundamentally affect the global economy, companies, society and consumer behavior. At the same time, the Management company manages the fund based on the use of growth, value, dividend and quality factors. The use of these factors diversifies risk and increases the fund's resilience over different market cycles, while leading to more stable, sustainable and attractive long-term results for the fund.

The fund is not specifically focused on any industry, sector, region or specific asset class.

The investment objective of the fund is achieved through investments in equities, equity securities of equity funds, including funds traded on a regulated market within the meaning of applicable law with an ETF designation, and equity financial derivatives.

For more information about the fund's investment objectives, please refer to Article I of the fund's sales prospectus.

The company invests the assets in the fund on a discretionary basis and does not follow any benchmark (i.e. an indicator representative of the market in which the investment is made) when making individual investments.

Intended retail investor

The fund is suitable for investors whose investment goal is to achieve growth in the value of the investment and have an investment horizon of at least 5 years. With this in mind, they must be prepared and able to tolerate fluctuations in the value of the investment corresponding to the value of the summary risk indicator listed below, or accept that the investment in the fund may end up in loss. The fund is intended for investors who have no or only basic experience and knowledge of the financial instruments in the fund and the development of capital markets, while they can make an informed investment decision based on the information provided at the point of sale. More information is provided below.

It is possible to issue units in several tranches in the fund. The current list of the Fund's issued tranches is set out in Article I of the Fund's Sales Prospectus.

You may have your units redeemed on demand at their current redemption price in effect on the date of receipt of your redemption request, which is calculated by the management company as of each business day. The management company may require an exit fee on redemption of units, the amount of which is set out in the Composition of costs section.

The Management Company can suspend redemption if this is deemed prudent based on exceptional circumstances.

The management company daily includes income from assets in the fund in the current price of units already issued. The provisions of the applicable Income Tax Act, as amended, and the provisions of applicable treaties on the avoidance of double taxation apply to the fund's assets, as well as to the income paid to shareholders.

You can find more detailed information on the taxation of unit certificates in Article I., point 3 of the sales prospectus of the fund.

The risk indicator assumes you will keep the product for at least 5 years.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as a 3 on a scale of 1 to 7, which represents a medium-low risk class. The risk of potential losses from future performance is classified as medium-low. Adverse conditions are unlikely to affect the value of your investment when it is redeemed.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

The total loss you may incur cannot exceed the amount invested.

The fund's risk may be significantly higher than that indicated in the summary risk indicator if you do not follow the fund's recommended investment horizon. Other important risks that the aggregate risk indicator does not show are liquidity risk, counterparty risk, operational risk, concentration risk and risk arising from trading in financial derivatives.
